

1
2
3
4
5
6 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
7 WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
8 AT SEATTLE

9 LARRY LIZOTTE,

10 Plaintiff,

11 v.

12 PRAXAIR, INC.,

13 Defendant/Third-Party
14 Plaintiff,

15 v.

16 PACIFIC CA SYSTEMS, INC.,

17 Third-Party Defendant.

Case No. C07-1868RSL

ORDER DENYING MOTION FOR AN EXTENSION OF THE DISCOVERY DEADLINE

18 This matter comes before the Court on plaintiff's motion for an extension of the 19 discovery deadline. Plaintiff filed his motion on December 19, 2008, which was also the 20 deadline to conduct discovery.¹ However, the Court's Minute Order Setting Trial and 21 Related Dates required that "[a]ll motions related to discovery must be noted on the 22 motions calendar no later than the Friday before discovery closes pursuant to CR 7(d)(3)
23

24 ¹ The original discovery deadline was December 7, 2008 but was extended to 25 December 19, 2008 after the Court signed the parties' stipulation for an extension.

1 or CR 37(a)(2)(B).” Dkt. #9 (the “scheduling order”). Therefore, plaintiff’s motion was 2 due by December 12, 2008 and was untimely.

3 Where, as here, a motion for an extension is made after the deadline has passed,
4 the Court may, “for good cause,” grant an extension “if the party failed to act because of 5 excusable neglect.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 6(b)(1)(B). As stated in the scheduling order, the 6 “failure to complete discovery within the time allowed is not recognized as good cause.”
7 Scheduling Order at p. 2. Plaintiff contends that he was unable to complete discovery
8 because the parties agreed to mediate by June 2008, but defendants reneged. It is unclear
9 how that issue supports plaintiff’s failure to complete discovery six months later.²
10 Moreover, defense counsel informed plaintiff’s counsel on April 1, 2008, long before the 11 discovery deadline, that defendant would not agree to mediate in June 2008. Declaration
12 of Walter Olsen (Dkt. #72) (“Olsen Decl.”), Ex. B-4.

13 Plaintiff also contends that defendants have been uncooperative in discovery.
14 However, he has not shown that defendants’ alleged lack of cooperation caused his failure
15 to meet the deadline. For example, plaintiff alleges that defendants’ efforts regarding 16 subrogation “consumed the spring and summer of 2008,” but he does not explain why that 17 delayed his ability to conduct discovery months later. Olsen Decl. at ¶ 5. Plaintiff also 18 notes that defendants belatedly produced their initial disclosures only after he filed this
19 motion, but plaintiff should have raised that issue before the deadline to file discovery
20 motions passed. In sum, plaintiff has not shown good cause or excusable neglect.
21 Therefore, his motion is denied as untimely.

22
23
24 ² The alleged agreement was contained in the parties’ joint status report, in which
25 they represented to the Court that they would mediate by June 30, 2008. The Court,
26 however, set a mediation deadline in March 2009.

1 Even if plaintiff had filed his motion in a timely manner, it would be denied. To 2 the extent that plaintiff is seeking to compel defendants to produce discovery or make
3 witnesses available for depositions, counsel must meet and confer before seeking an order
4 to compel. Counsel has not satisfied the meet and confer requirement. Instead, plaintiff's
5 counsel vaguely states, "When I requested an immediate discovery conference to discuss
6 how each party could complete their respective discovery in light of the discovery
7 deadline on December 19, I did not receive a substantive response from counsel. To the 8 contrary, it was clear to me that we had either then satisfied our obligations to 9 meet/confer or it was impossible to do so." Second Declaration of Walter Olsen (Dkt.
10 #91) at ¶ 6. That vague statement does not identify how the request was made, what was 11 said, or defense counsel's response.³ Accordingly, the Court will not compel defendants
12 to produce discovery.

13 Furthermore, an extension of the deadline and/or an order to compel appear
14 unnecessary. Plaintiff's motion failed to identify what discovery he seeks to conduct or 15 how much additional times he needs to do so.⁴ His reply, for the first time, identifies the 16

17 ³ For example, plaintiff seeks photographs and a statement from Don Land, but 18 does not set forth the substance of the parties' discussions, if any, about those items.
19 Instead, plaintiff's counsel states, "Despite repeated requests, I have not received" Land's
20 statement. Second Olsen Decl. at ¶ 14. He does not state how or when those requests 21 were made or defendants' response.

22 ⁴ Plaintiff's attacks on defendants and their counsel and his cryptic phrases are not 23 helpful to resolving this issue. See, e.g., Plaintiff's Motion at p. 3 ("Unfortunately, that 24 smell never went away and it subsequently became clear that when there's smoke, there is
25 fire no matter what the experts say; because it was then that Travelers took over this case
26 and made it crystal clear that it set out to stop at nothing to beat Mr. Lizotte's poor family into economic and legal submission, and continued to do whatever they could think of to make his life harder, and to deny him any relief or comfort"). Instead, in future filings, plaintiff should focus on clearly identifying the issue and the relief he seeks.

1 information sought and requested until January 30, 2009 to complete discovery. If
2 plaintiff timely issued discovery requests before the discovery deadline, then he is entitled
3 to complete that discovery without need to extend the discovery deadline. For example, it
4 appears that the deposition of James Woodbridge, the President of Pacific, was noted for 5 a date prior to the discovery deadline but was not taken because of a death in
6 Woodbridge's family. Plaintiff may take Woodbridge's deposition after the discovery
7 deadline. Plaintiff has not shown that defendants have denied him the opportunity to 8 complete pending discovery. For example, although he alleges that he needs to conduct
9 records depositions for both defendants, and noted those depositions for December 19,
10 2008, he does not explain what, if any, efforts he has made to follow up on those 11 depositions. Although plaintiff requests more legible copies of some photographs,
12 defendants have since produced them.

13 Finally, the Court notes that in response to defendants' motion for summary
14 judgment, plaintiff has requested a continuance pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil 15 Procedure 56(f) to conduct discovery. In the context of that motion, the Court will 16 evaluate whether plaintiff has supported that request.

17 For all of the foregoing reasons, the Court DENIES plaintiff's motion for an 18 extension of the discovery deadline (Dkt. #71).

19
20 DATED this 22nd day of January, 2009.

21
22
23 Robert S. Lasnik
24 United States District Judge
25